DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Restriction is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 and 372.

This application contains the following inventions or groups of inventions which are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

In accordance with 37 CFR 1.499, applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single invention to which the claims must be restricted.

Group I, claim(s) 1-11, 30, 31 and 37-46, drawn to a method of automated sample processing, comprising active steps of regulating the temperature of a sample.

Group II, claim(s) 12-29, 32-36 and 47, drawn to a method of automated sample processing, comprising active steps of regulating the temperature of reagents to be added/applied to the sample.

Group III, claim(s) 75 and 90-113, drawn to an automated sample processing system.

The inventions listed as Groups I-III do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, they lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons:

Claims 1 and 75, at least, are anticipated by Richards et al (US Patent 6,296,809). Richards et al teach a method and device for automated sample processing. The device comprises a carousel that can hold up to twenty different slides, samples on glass slides are supplied to the device, an individual processing sequence for each sample is programmed into a computer microprocessor, and the device automatically processes each sample according to the directions encoded by the microprocessor. Each of the different slides rests on an individual sample carrier, each sample carrier also comprises a thermal platform and a temperature sensor. The temperature sensor actively senses the temperature of the sample through the processing-run; the thermal platform reacts to feedback from the sensor to actively regulate the temperature of the sample throughout the processing-run. The temperature of each sample can be set to any desired temperature, below or above the ambient temperature of the system; the thermal devices can actively regulate the temperature to reduce or increase the temperature of the sample to a desired set temperature and can maintain the sample within +/- 2 degrees Celsius of the set temperature.

Consequently, the special technical feature which links the claims of Inventive Groups I-III, (a method of automatically controlling the temperature of samples and a device for doing such), does not provide a contribution over the prior art, so unity of invention is lacking.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species or invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

The election of an invention or species may be made with or without traverse. To reserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse.

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the inventions or species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the inventions or species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C.103(a) of the other invention.

Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
